FARM AGENT SECURED FOR COUNTY

Will Be of Inestimable Value to the Farms. Central Board Appointed by Judge Dowell.

To the Farmers of Breckinridge County: It has been one of my greatest desires, during my term of office, to secure for Breckinridge county a farm agent, believing that such an agent will be of inestimable value to the farmers of Breckinridge county. Mr. F. E. Merriman, who has charge of the extension work in Kentucky, knowing that I have worked to secure the employment of such a man, when the Federal Government placed a number of emergency agents in Kentucky, assigned one to Breckinridge county. The agent's services will be paid by the Federal Government until June 30, 1918, after which he will be withdrawn unless the Fiscal Court employs him permanently by paying half of his salary.

There has been a Central Board of Control appointed and they are hereby notified to meet at the Court House in Hardinsburg, Saturday afternoon, December 1, at 1:30 o'clock, to organize and start the extension work in Breckinridge county. The personnel of the Board is as follows: G. A. Wright, T. B. Beard, E. B. Oglesby, Frank Carter, Hubert Bruner, Pete Macy, B. W. Carter, G. O. Sanford, J. W. Harrington, W. J. Ballman, Henry Hays, Walter Moorman, Joe Glasscock, Judge Matthias Miller, W. S. Ball, County Attorney, G. E. Bess, J. R. Meador, Supt. of Schools, elect, Judge H. Bell Moorman, Rev. Huntsman, W. C. Duvall, S. B. Payne, County Judge, elect, Rev. J. F. Kime, W. J. Piggott, E. H. Sherman, and A. B. Skillman. Each member is requested to be present on the above date. Mr. Hearth, emergency agent, will be here and take up his work on that date.

To those who have not given this work much thought, I beg that you get acquainted with Mr. Hearth. He is here to assist you; use him. Invite him out to your place, show him over your farm. He will give you many valuable suggestions that will lighten your work and increase your yield. When he has a meeting in your town or at your school house go out and meet him, meet your neighbors and organize a farmers club. Your time will be well employed.

Sincerely and cordially yours,
D. D. Dowell, County Judge.

MR. PAUL COMPTON RESIGNS HIS POSITION AS CASHIER OF BANK OF HARDINSBURG & TRUST CO.

To our Patrons and Friends:

The Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Company and Mr. Paul Compton, jointly, announce the resignation of Mr. Compton as Cashier of the Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Company, which was tendered and accepted on November 22, 1917, to become effective December 1, 1917.

Mr. Compton resigned as Cashier because the many private business enterprises, in which he is largely interested, demand his attention to such an extent as to render it impracticable for him longer to continue with the Bank, and, at the same time, give proper attention to his business enterprises, as they are to some extent incompatible. While Mr. Compton, after December 1st, will no longer sustain any official connection with the Bank, he and his business enterprises will continue to be its patrons, and Mr. Compton urges upon his friends to continue their patronage of the Bank and assures them that all will receive the generous, courteous consideration as they have in the past. Hereafter, it will be the policy, without exception, that no employee shall be in competition with any patron in any way.

The active management of the Bank's affairs will be in charge of M. D. Beard, President; M. B. Kincheloe, Acting Cashier, and Geo. E. Bess, Manager of the Trust Department. As is known to all, these officials have been with the Bank for several years, Mr. Kincheloe for about thirteen years, which means the continuation of the same efficiency and methods in vogue since the Bank & Trust Company's organization, and all its patrons and friends are assured the same courteous attention in the future as in the past.

Respectfully,

THE BANK OF HARDINSBURG & TRUST CO.

PAUL COMPTON.

We, the undersigned officials desire to state that the rumors which have come to our ears reflecting upon the Bank's condition are of sinister origin and without the slightest foundation. The business affairs of this institution are now, as they have been continuously since its organization, above reproach in every particular and prosperous.

Generous Box Sent Orphans.

The local Methodist church remembered the little orphans of the Methodist Orphan Home with a box of "goodies" this year which exceeded any box that has been sent for several years.

The committee consisted of Mrs. Frank Fraize, Mrs. Jno. D. Babbage and W. C. Moorman, made a request that the donors specialise on canned goods and as a result the request was responded to quite liberally. The box weighed 160 pounds and $3.95 was collected to pay for the express.

"Save Me, Mary."

Mary had a little car,
Made at the factory of Ford,
And in the course of its ramble it got a jar,
And skidded clear off the road.

"Save Me, Mary," was the wail of a young society man when an automobile loaded with joy riders made a high dive for a ditch near the lee plant. Fortunately no one was hurt, and Mary didn't have the pleasure of "saving him." However, after Johnnie recovered from his fright, he proceeded to pick the "tin Lizzie" up and set it in the road and the merry makers went rejoicing on their way.

The banquet was given in the Stephensport city hall and elegant turkey dinner was served by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

Fifty guests were present including visiting Masons from this place, Addison, Dukes and Holt. Before the dinner was served, Mr. Harry Gans took the first degree of Masonry in the Cloverport Chapter.

The visitors included: W. A. Cuckrell, H. N. Wood, Lyle Behen, Andrew Ashby, M. M. Denton, Harry Gans, Ollie Clark, R. L. Oelz, Chas. Hamby, C. W. Hamman, Richard Sapp, Randall Weatherholt, H. L. Stader, D. B. Phelps, D. H. Severs, Dr. Parrish, F. P. Payne, G. W. Payne, C. G. Brabant, A. B. Skillman, O. T. Skillman, G. M. Mullen, and H. H. Hardin of this city, Chas. LARGEST WEED SALE IS MADE

Tobacco Company Pays For 898 Hogsheads the Sum of $285,000.

Louisville, Nov. 23.—For a total consideration of $285,000, the American Tobacco Company yesterday purchased from Gorin Brothers, tobacco brokers at 1012 West Main street, this city, 898 hogsheads, or 950,000 pounds, of Barley tobacco of the 1916 crop, this being the largest single sale ever made in the history of the State.

The price per pound was thirty cents, and this also was a record figure for Barley products. The same tobacco last year was sold at a maximum of 17 cents and the year before at 13½ cents, and going back as far as 1914, the pound price would not have exceeded 8 cents.

Thus the price paid yesterday is more than double the market value of two years ago and quadruple prevailing prices fifteen years ago.

Tobacco men say that this sale practically cleans up the entire supply of old Barley tobacco in three States, Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio, where Gorin Brothers have been purchasing extensively during the past ten months.

The local concerns, composed of Henry J. and Louis B. Gorin, looked into the future and saw an inevitable advance in the price of Barley tobacco. On the loose leaf markets in the States named the company went after the tobacco actively but quietly and the buying at times was fast and furious. When the American Tobacco Co. agreed to pay as high as 30 cents a pound for the supply under control, it was regarded in tobacco circles as a vindication of the judgment of the Messrs. Gorin.

Large exports of smoking material to Europe to supply the soldiers at the front with smokes, and the exceptional quality of the tobacco held by the Gorin Brothers for the manufacture of cigarettes, explains the remarkable price that figured in the sale.

While this one sale was being made Gorin Brothers were completing arrangements for the disposal of 418 hds. of Indiana dark, one hogshead of sucker leaf and lugs, about 450,000 pounds in all, at an average price of 18½ cents a pound, the record price paid to date for tobacco of this character.

E. J. O'Brien & Co., Louisville, purchased the leaf and the lugs went to G. F. Vaughn, of Richmond, Va.

Beavin-Crenshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Beavin, of this city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Louella Beavin, and Sergt. Thomas Crenshaw. The wedding took place in Detroit, Mich., November 21, 1917.

The bride left home two weeks ago for Detroit to visit the groom's sister, Mrs. Robert Scroggins, and to meet Sergt. Crenshaw as he could not get a leave of absence. She was accompanied to Louisville by her sister, Miss Laura Beavin.

Sergt. Crenshaw is with Co. H, 337th Infantry, Camp Funston, Battle Creek, Mich., and was in service on the Mexican border before the German-American war. His father, R. M. Crenshaw, resides in Cloverport.

"Two bottles of Tanlac helped me wonderfully I kept on taking it until I had taken four bottles in all and my stomach is in fine shape now," said Mrs. Mary Lovewell, 127 West Chestnut street Louisville, Ky.

The slow circling wings of death's angel hovering so long over the home of Mr. Sam Beavin, Sr., deceased Saturday Nov. 17, and bore a'off the soul of the well loved wife and mother who had suffered with that dread disease cancer.

born in the year 1845 she lived and died a native of Breckinridge county, and throughout her 52 years, she was a practical member of the Catholic church. Married when almost a child, she became the mother of six children, losing her husband and three children in an epidemic of typhoid fever.

She was married later in life to Samuel Beavin, Sr., who with four daughters and three sons survive her.

The funeral was held at St. Mary's of the Wood's Sunday afternoon. Her pastor paid touching tribute to her truly christian character and the crowded church gave evidence of the esteem in which she was held. Her remains were laid to rest in the country churchyard where amid the song of birds and the bloom of flowers she will await the blessed resurrection.

U.S. SENDS OUT DRAFT CALL TO 9,000,000 MEN

All Registrants Required to Fill Out Questionnaire Classifying Order of Call.

INVENTORY OF MAN POWER

Five Divisions to Be Formed Depending on Occupation and Claims for Exemption Allowed—Local Boards
Will Help Registered Men.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Uncle Sam has begun the most gigantic inventory of man power ever attempted.

Preparations for the second draft were started when copies of the questionnaire for every one of the nine million men registered for military service were sent to the local exemption boards.

This questionnaire must be filled out by every registered man between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-one. It will place in the hands of the government the life history of every registered man and will give a complete census of the men of military age in 87 trades, industries and professions.
The questionnaire will classify all registered men for service.

Classification of registered men in the order of their liability for military service will be the first accomplishment of the questionnaire. Men will be classified in five divisions, the first division to be called the first and the fifth division last.

The classes and the order in which they will be called are as follows:

CLASS 1.

Single men without dependent relatives.

Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children, who has habitually failed to support his family.

Married man dependent on wife for support.

Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children;
man not usefully engaged, family supported by income independent of his labor.

Unskilled farm laborer.
Unskilled industrial laborer.

Registrant by or in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made.

Registrant who fails to submit questionnaire and in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made.

All registrants not included in any other division in this schedule.

CLASS 2.

Married man with children or father of motherless children where such wife or children or such motherless children are not mainly dependent upon his labor for support for the reason that there are other reasonably certain sources of adequate support (excluding earnings or possible earnings from the labor of the wife) available, and that the removal of the registrant will not deprive such dependent of support.

Married man, without children, whose wife, although the registrant is engaged in a useful occupation, is not mainly dependent upon his labor for support, for the reason that the wife

Boards to Aid Registrants.

To aid the registrants in filling out these questionnaires and determining their classification legal advisory boards have been provided for each local exemption district. Disinterested lawyers have been taken into service to aid in the general administration of the law.

All exemptions made prior to this time or revoked. Every man not in the military service must fill out a questionnaire, and the merits of his case will be decided upon again.

Any person failing to fill out a questionnaire is automatically placed in Class 1 and liable for immediate duty.

Following the classification comes a series of general questions. There then follow eleven other series of questions which fit particular cases ranging from the man who claims physical disability to questions asked of men seeking exemption because they are divinity students.

The general questions establish a most intimate knowledge of the personal characteristics of the registrant.
He must state every occupation at which he has worked during the past ten years, giving not only the name of the occupation, but the number of hours worked each week and a statement of his education.

In these questions the registrant is given the privilege of stating his preference of service, and may state whether he is willing to attend a night school fitting him for service prior to being called into camp.

There then follows a list of 87 trades and professions, and the registrant is given space to indicate which he has worked in and for how long a period.

Many Questions Asked.

Persons claiming exemption on the ground of being aliens are asked to give the date of their birth, their birthplace, the time of their entrance to this country, the name of the vessel upon which they entered and their companions. They are also asked, "Are you willing to return to your native country and enter its military service?"

Claimants for exemption on grounds of dependency must answer a series of thirty-one questions, supported by affidavits of the dependents. These questions are most intimate, seeking a declaration of the exact amount of money contributed to the support of the dependent each month. Each regis-trant must also declare the amount of his income for the past twelve months and the amount of his property, real and personal. If a regis-trant owns a horse he must state whether he rents it and if so how much rent he receives. "What services upon property owned by dependents as well as the amount of interest in the past year. How long have you been employed?" is also a question asked.
"Is your wife married?" "Do you or your wife live with her parents?"

The Three-Cent Stamp.

(A Farewell Printed 21 Years Ago.)

Good by, old stamp, it's nasty luck
That ends our friendship so,
When others fail'd you gamely stuck,
But now you've got to go
So here's a flood of honest tears,
And here's an honest sigh—
Good by, old friend of many years—
Good-by, old stamp good by.
Your life has been a varied one,
With curious phases fraught—
Sometimes a cheer, sometimes a dun,
Your daily coming brought;
Smiles to a waiting lover's face,
Tears to a mother's eye,
Or joy or pain to every place—
Good-by, old stamp, good by!
You bravely toiled, and better men
Will count for what I say:
Although you have been ticked, 'twas when Your face turned fother way;
'Twas often in a box you got (As you will not deny)—
For going through the mails, I wot—
Good-by, old stamp, good by!
Ah, in your last expiring breath!
The tale of years is heard—
The sound of voices hushed in death,
A mother's dying word,
A maiden's answer, soft and sweet,
A wife's regretful sigh,
The patter of a baby's feet—
Good-by, old stamp, good by!
What wonder, then, that at this time
When you and I must part,
I should aspire to speak in rhyme
The promptings of my heart?
Go, bid with all those men's dear
That live when others die—
You've nobly served your purpose here,
Good-by, old stamp, good by.

Every day is a Thanksgiving day, every morning a blessing of strength; every evening a bundle of mercies, for each of God's children.—"Over Lea and Land."

THE SPIRIT OF THANKSGIVING IN 1917.

"We give thanks that in the day of its pride and riches our country has not lost the will to succor the suffering and oppressed in less fortunate lands. We are grateful that our security has not blinded us to the peril of other nations; that our abundance has not made us insensitive to the need of our neighbors; that our liberty has not lulled our minds to forgetfulness of other peoples bowed under a galling yoke. We give thanks that our sons have not lost the iron of their Pilgrim forefathers; that they are willing to rally to the defense of freedom even to celebrating Thanksgiving Day in the thunder of their guns; that life is not so sweet to them but they can risk losing it in the cause of democracy."

THE BOYS IN OLIVE DRAB.

We haven't seen a crowd at the depot equaled to the one Sunday afternoon since the days of the annual barbecue. But you know it is a foregone conclusion that the sight of an olive drab uniform and "brass buttons" will captivate most every one and lead them where they will.

It was the sight of a few of the home boys from Camp Zachary Taylor, who spent Sunday here, that led so many of the Cloverporters out on such a bleak afternoon. It was worth the price, because the boys were such a splendid looking group of soldiers that most any town would be glad to claim them as "our boys."

The banner service flag of the Nation is proudly flying from the New York Newsboy's Home. It has 2,520 stars and every one save seventy-five of these boys have volunteered for service in the Army and Navy.

Gen. Julian Byng, the hero of the hour, looks as if he had the courage and determination to conquer all of Germany without much effort—and then wish for another Germany.

According to all present records Los Angeles, Cal., is the largest city in the United States to be without saloons. This city was voted "dry" last week by a majority of 20,000.

There are a few homes in Cloverport which deserve service flags with two stars and they should apply for these flags.

A Christmas savings coming due this month makes you feel like you own the world whether you do or not.

A Red Cross seal on your letters and parcels is one other sign of your patriotism.

FARM AND STOCK.

The local tobacco market has been quite active during the past week. Buyers have been in every nook and corner of the county picking up the best crops and paying high record prices. Some dark crops have sold for as high as $20 round and $18 and $16 the lowest.

Burleys are away out of sight. Twenty dollars round is no longer considered. Buyers have to talk $25 and $27.50 and are not getting any crops at these prices. The bulk of the crop has gone out of the farmers' hands and is held by speculators.

The loose leaf sale on December 8, promises to be an interesting event in the history of tobacco selling. Farmers who have not sold their crops are planning to try this sale with a sample load of their crop. It will be one of the biggest meetings of the farmers and tobacco growers ever held in the county.

Prices for Burley on the Louisville market last week were high up to $20. R. C. Alvey, of Grayson county, sold two bids, one for $23 and one for $30. Bud Richardson, of the same county, sold one bid, for $37. There were a few bids, of one sucker sold at from $15.75 to $17.75.

Gorin & Co.'s big sale to the American Tobacco Company last week practically cleaned up all of the 1916 crop on the Louisville market. In this sale was a big bunch of Breckenridge county Burley this firm purchased more last year. It is claimed that Gorin & Co. cleaned up a profit of over $100,000 on this deal.

Frank Ruppert, of Glen Dean, sold his crop of 15,000 pounds of one sucker to J. C. Payne, of $15 round. He says he is feeding 24 hogs at $10 a hog to the December market that will average 300 pounds. They are thoroughbred and beauties. His corn crop will be around 3,000 bushels. Mr. Ruppert is noted for his good crops, his good farming and a high-class citizen.

Bert Wells, of Glen Dean, No. 1, has 5,000 pounds of good one sucker and A. Whoberry 8,000 pounds of the same type that they turned down an offer of $18 round. They want $20.

Zeno Dunn sold his crop of 3,000 pounds of Burley at $25.

C. H. Payne, of Glen Dean, sold his crop of 8,000 pounds of one sucker at $20 round. His brother, William, has 10,000 pounds, and their father, H. L. Payne, 15,000 pounds. Both crops are unsold.

James Smith, who bought the Ernest D. Jarrette farm, came up last week to look after his farm and get things in shape to move in on February 1, 1918. Mr. Smith sold his farm in Daviess county at $125 per acre.

Henry "Telle" Bland is 73 years old; married Mrs. Bland 46 years ago. They have eight living children, one dead, and 45 living grandchildren. He bought the farm he now lives on 48 years ago from John Dean, deceased, and has lived on it continuously since and reared his large family. Mr. Bland says he has driven many a hog to Cloverport and sold them for 3 cents and tobacco at an average of 3 cents. Mr. Bland is still raising tobacco and hogs, enjoying fine health and the high prices for his farm products.

The United States Department of Agriculture says orders should be placed at once by farmers who intend to use lime on their land in order to increase next year's crop. By doing this now, manufacturers will be able to supply their needs, whereas they will be swamped if he orders it come next spring. Lime applied in the fall or early in the spring is more effective when applied in the spring. It is also more effective when applied in the spring. It is also more effective when applied in the spring.

and also as an emergency war measure.

Sixty five thousand five hundred and twenty square miles of territory in Southern States infested with cattle ticks will be released from Federal quarantine December 1, and will be a red letter day for the cattle and dairying industry in the South. This release breaks all records in the tick eradication.

Beard Bros. are feeding 300 head of cattle. They are a picked lot, all even sizes and colors. They claim they are the finest lot of cattle ever fed in the county.

G. N. Lyddan, owner of Park Place Farm near Irvington, has just returned from Eminence, Ky., where he purchased of A. C. Crabbe a load of bred-in cows. These cows are thoroughbred and Mr. Lyddan's enterprise will be appreciated by the farmers and stock raisers in this county. It costs no more to raise a good calf than it does a scrub, besides they always bring more on the market.

Thos. Lyddan has two Hereford baby calves six months old that weigh 60 pounds each, and two that weigh 67 pounds each the same age.

Mike Lyddan sold H. H. Norton nine head of Herfords that averaged 610 pounds for December delivery at 10 cents.

John Hardesty sold Paul Wilson 16 head of beautiful Durocs Saturday. They averaged 225 and sold at market price.

W. J. Owen & Sons threshed 6 acres of rye and sold 25 bushels at $2.50 per bushel. They sowed 25 acres which is coming up and will soon be ready for grazing. Mr. Owen says he gets fine results from rye as a fertilizer for other crops.

G. C. Garner sold to Willie and Ollie Addison a 95 acre farm for $1,000. He sold 10,000 pounds of tobacco to Beard Brothers at $12.50, $18.50 and $20.

There were sold last week over the loose leaf floors at Bowling Green 971,000 pounds of one sucker at a general average of $18.06 for leaf, lugs and trash. Remember the loose leaf sale at Hardinsburg Saturday, December 8, is this promises to be one of the best markets in the Green River district.

Cook & Wilson, of Irvington, shipped last week two car loads of new Burley. There were quite a number of hogs heads shipped from Garfield.

Beard Brothers receipts of new tobacco at Hardinsburg is around 300,000 pounds.

Rats and mice are among the worst animal pests in the world, according to biologists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

From their home among filth they visit dwellings and storerooms to pollute and destroy human food.

The rat carries bubonic plague and many other diseases fatal to man and has undoubtedly been responsible for more untimely deaths among human beings than all wars of history.

It is estimated that rats destroy property valued at more than $100,000,000 every year, an amount equivalent to the gross earnings of an army of 200,000 men.

Grain eaten and wasted by rats and mice on many farms would pay all the farmer's taxes. They are parasites without a single redeeming characteristic. If you have rats on your premises get busy before they eat you up and destroy your property.

PLUCKY KORNILOFF.

Russia's Famous General Made Himself a Popular Hero.

General Korniloff is considered the pluckiest general in the Russian army. The story of his career reads like a fairy tale.

Short of stature, with a bristling mustache, Korniloff, who is a general of the Siberian Cossacks, first became known during the Russian retreat in the Carpathians in 1915. Against desperate odds he held out with his division till he himself was taken prisoner by the Teutons. For several months he was interned in Austria and had a very hard time there.

In 1916 he decided to escape. Disguised as a peasant, risking his life on many occasions, he walked hundreds of miles across the Carpathians into Roumania. When he finally arrived in Russia he was greeted with unbounded joy by the army. His feat also made him very popular with the entire nation. This made it possible for him to gain the great honor, immediately after the revolution, of being the first commandant of the revolutionary army at Petrograd.

In this capacity he was dispatched to Tarskoe-Selo to arrest the czarina. The scene that followed his arrival at the residence of Nicholas Romanoff on March 21 has become historic.—New York Times.

A MATTRESS ON A WARSHIP.

It is Both a Comfortable Bed and a Fine Life Preserver.

It must afford considerable consolation to the navy recruit to realize that the mattress on which he sleeps so comfortably at night will stand him in good stead in case of an accident to the ship. In fact, the very buoyancy which makes it such a comfortable bed is also the quality which makes it possible for it to be converted at a moment's notice into a life preserver, says the Popular Science Monthly.

The mattresses are stuffed with kapok, a lighter than cork material which is imported from the West Indies in bales similar to bales of cotton. It is made from the seeds and silk of a tree not unlike the cotton wood tree, but instead of being in puffy balls the kapok is in slender threads, which when compressed make a mass that is six times more buoyant than cork.

Thin layers of the kapok are inclosed in strong ticking for the mattresses. Each mattress is provided with tapes long enough to tie around the body and over the shoulders. It requires only a minute to adjust them.

She Knew What to Take.
Five-year-old Mary, who is always anxious to be in everything that goes on, lives in a small town where the long suffering minister still endures donation parties to make his back salary. Just before the last one she begged eagerly:

"Can't I take somethin', too, muvver?"

"No. If your father and I take something, that will be plenty."

But the child could not help to give up the idea. So she ran back to a whole house for something suitable. Finally she appeared before her mother with a worn and faded dress of her own.

"Please, muvver, can't I take that? See, it's not a bit of good for anything," she begged.—Boston Herald.

SOLDIERS TRANSPORTED IN PULLMANS

On Long Journeys in Place of the Day Coach—Safety Speed Limit is 25 Miles Per Hour.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 21.

To the Editor:
The following statement, authorized by Mr. Fairfax Harrison, in charge of the Railroads War Board, has been wired to me from Washington for release Sunday, November 25
Respectfully,
W. R. Hensley.

Troop movement figures to date indicate that the railroads of this country have safely transported approximately 1,500,000 soldiers to training camps and embarkation points since August 1; 500,000 of these men have made journeys requiring Pullman cars. On one of the long hauls 8,000 men were moved from a training camp on the Western coast to a point on the Eastern coast, a distance of 3,700 miles, in a little less than a week. The men travelled in sixteen sections, each section comprising twelve tourist cars and two baggage cars.

In order to centralize the furnishing of sleeping cars at points most convenient to the Government and to utilize these cars to the best advantage, the Pullman Company changed the supervision of the supply and movement of these cars from the headquarters of the Company at Chicago to Washington where they stationed Mr. C. W. Henry, Assistant to the Superintendent of Car Service. Mr. Henry, in his headquarters at the office of the Railroads War Board, has been in daily touch with the office of the Quartermaster General and, on receipt of requests from military authorities for sleeping car equipment, has been that the cars were rushed at once to the points needed.

As a result of this co-operation between the Government, the Railroads and the Pullman Company, said a million soldiers have been spared the discomforts of riding long train trips in Facing a Sugar Famine.

Not for "love or money" could you buy a pound of sugar in Cloverport late Monday afternoon and unless some of the groceries receive shipments to-day, the town is facing a real sugar famine.

A few of the house keepers have as much as a pound or two "holed" in their pantries and they are treasuring it as if it were a gold mine. The less fortunate ones are realizing what it is to fast and in a measure can sympathize with the Belgians. It is difficult to say when the famine will be relieved.

Loses Barn By Fire.

Nick Netherton's friends will be sorry to hear of his loss by fire last week when his new barn and 300 bushels of corn, other feed and a lot of farm implements were totally lost. His loss is around $1500, with insurance of $450. The barn feed and implements represent Mr. Netherton's year's work. He built his barn raised his corn and hay, bought his farm implements all this year. It cost him a lot of hard labor and to see in swept away in a few minutes is pretty tough.

Commissioner's Sales.

Master Commissioner Walls sold the following property at the court house door in Hardinsburg Monday.

The McCans farm on Big Spring road nearly 400 acres was knocked off to Ralph Richardson after long and spirited bidding for $3630.

The Isaac Compton farm on the new pike from Hardinsburg to Garfield went to Vic Robertson for $1900. Watch this place grow into a thing of beauty under the supervision of Mr. Robertson. Pete Sherran bought a 55 acre tract formerly owned by Sherran Jarboe & Co., for $1,265.

Hogs best, 165 pounds and up $17.40; 120 to 165 pounds $16.80; pigs $13.30 and $16.30 and roughs $15.80 down.

Public Sale!

I will on offer for sale a large part of the live stock on the farm consisting of 2 heavy 6-year-old mare mules, 16 hands high, well broken; 2 nice yearling mare mules; 3 registered saddle mules, one in foal by Burke Cochran, the other a 3-year-old and not bred; 1 3-year-old black jennet, quite a good one; 1 6-year old black Jack (Ben) and none better in the county. He is full 15 hands high and has all the bone and substance necessary and is a proven sire of utility mules. J. A. Waggoner, of Hardinsburg, recently sold a weanling mule by him to J. L. Lucas, of Hudson, for $97.50, perhaps the highest price paid in the county this season. If you are in the hole, buy this Jack at a long price—he will pull you out in about four months. I'm putting this Jack in to help make up my sale and if you don't want him when knocked off just leave him in my barn; 1 Jersey cow; 1 2-year-old Jersey bull, and a nice one.

Will also sell a select lot of 200 pound, pure-bred Durac Jersey gilts—these gilts are all bred for March farrow. They are Defender in blood line and have been mated to Col. O. K. 2nd, a fully developed boar. You can not make a mistake if you should pay $65 or $70 for one of these. Will also sell a few boars big enough for service.

Sale will be positive, rain or shine, and will be conducted as my former sales have, on a high plane—there will be no by-bidding.

A Georgian in Retirement.

When we retired, twenty years ago, our better half told us that the family would not require anything of us except to chop and bring in all the house wood all the stove wood, bring all the water from the spring, get up mornings, make the stove fire, cook breakfast, feed the hogs, work the potatoes and work three-fourths acre in the garden and to keep a garden the year round means a perpetual year's work and see that the little grand children did not get in the creek and did not get run over by automobiles. POISON GAS NOT CHLORINE

Substance Alone Could Never Cause Agony and Internal Injuries Reported From France.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Chlorine is not the substance from which poison gases is made on the European battlefronts, according to a paper read before the American Electrochemical society convention by William D. Marshall, a delegate.

"During the first year of the war," Mr. Marshall said, "reports from abroad frequently reached this side to the effect that chlorine was used in the form of gas attacks, releasing it from cylinders, or containers, against the position of the enemy. My own experience with chlorine, as well as what I have heard from others on the subject, leads me to believe that it alone could never have caused such agony and internal injuries as were described, because in my practice I have never seen nor heard of anybody permanently injured by inhaling chlorine, although the temporary inconveniences and pain caused by it seemed at times rather serious."

Rather than perform a deadly mission, Mr. Marshall said that chlorine had lent itself for war purposes in a "rather scabrous" way, etc.

Only A Regular

(1)
Why didn't I wait to be drafted.
And be led to the train by a Band.
Or get out by claim of Exemption,
Gee why did I hold up my hand for Seven Years.

Why didn't I wait for the Banquet?
Why didn't I wait to be cheered?
For the drafted men got the credit,
And I only Volunteered.

(3)
And now we're off for the trenches
And no body knows it or cares,
The news of our going is censored
By the men in the easy chairs.

(4)
And there is no one here to cheer us
No one to shed a few tears,
We are not the ones who were drafted
We are only the Volunteers.

(5)
But when we were told we were going Across to the FIRING line,
The camp went wild with cheers
And you could not hear any one whine.

And to night as I sit here and scribble
With a scratchy old pen,
There is a smile on my face and I am happy
I am in camp with a bunch of real Men.

(7)
Perhaps some day in the future
When a little boy sits on my knee,
And ask what I done in the great War
And his little eyes look up to me.

(8)
I will have to look back into those eyes
That at me so trustingly peer,
And confess that I was not Drafted
That I was only a VOLUNTEER.

Persian Wars.

True porcelain was never produced in Persia, but hard paste porcelain in Persian forms and styles of decoration was made in China for the Persian market. Wine covers with powder blue glaze and gold overglaze decoration, small vase and bowls with bronze luster glaze and designs reserved in white are found in collections of Persian ware, but these are unquestionable of Chinese origin.

Frequently the Case.

"Why not?"
"Because both my wife and myself had too many items that we wanted to list as sundries."—Lamb.

Opportunity.

Switzerland is Genuinely Neutral Says U. S. Envoy

Little Switzerland, tucked away in central Europe among the high peaks of the Alps, is maintaining its neutrality steadfastly and resolutely, perhaps sometimes against odds. But it is not departing from it for a little minute. This is the message that Pleasant A. Stovall, United States Minister to that country, brings here. He is in Washington on his first visit to this country in four years. In conference with government officials he made it plain that Switzerland deserves every courtesy and right that a neutral country could expect. He is making an effort to facilitate the export of food supplies there from this country. It is the claim of the American envoy that Switzerland is one of the few genuinely neutral nations of Europe.

CELLARS OR CAVES

Particularly Desirable for Storage of Many Surplus Vegetable Crops.

SUPERIOR IN MANY RESPECTS

Outdoor Affairs Can Be Maintained at Uniform Temperature Over Long Period—Ventilators Add to Efficiency.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Outdoor storage cellars or caves are excellent for the storage of many vegetables. They are particularly desirable on the farm, as they afford convenient and inexpensive storage facilities for surplus vegetable crops that otherwise might be lost. They possess all the advantages of the storage room in the basement and are superior in many respects. The outdoor storage cellar can be maintained at a uniform temperature over a long period. It is possible to keep the cellar cool and quickly to reduce the temperature of the stored product to the desired point for safe storage by opening the door during the night and closing it in the morning before the air becomes warm. All ventilators should likewise be kept tightly closed until the outside air is again cooler than that within the cellar, when they should be opened, unless the outside temperature is so low as to be dangerous. This safeguards the product and adds to the efficiency of the storage chamber. Vegetables can be more conveniently placed in such a cellar than in the storage room in the basement of a dwelling. When the chief use of the outdoor storage cellar is for storing turnips, beets, carrots, and other root crops commonly used as stock for food, it should be located near the stable, where the material will be convenient for winter feeding. When it is to be used for vegetables for the table the cellar should be accessible from the kitchen at all times. If apples or other fruits are to be stored in an outdoor storage cellar it is desirable to have a two-compartment cellar, one for vegetables and one for apples, with a ventilating apparatus in each compartment.

Construction of Cellar.

As the root cellar must be weather proof, that is, capable of being kept free from moisture and free from frost, its type and construction vary with the geographical location. In the southern portion of the country the structure is usually entirely above ground and protected by only a few inches of sod and with straw, leaves, etc. In Northern sections outdoor storage cellars are made almost entirely below ground and covered with a foot or two of earth.

Storage in Regions of Mild Winters.

An above-ground storage cellar, suited to conditions in southern sections of the United States may be built on a well-drained site at slight expense. A row of posts may be set 5 or 6 feet apart, extending 7 or 8 feet above the surface of the ground, with a ridgepole placed on top of them. Against each side of the ridgepole a row of planks or puncheons is placed, with their opposite ends resting in a shallow trench 4 or 5 feet from the line of posts. The ends are boarded up, a door being provided in one end of the structure and the room covered with sod to a depth of 5 or 6 inches. A good type of outdoor storage cellar built along these lines is shown in the illustration.

Storage in Regions of Severe Freezes.

In sections where low temperatures prevail it is necessary to insulate the storage house so that the vegetables will not freeze. An above-ground type of storage house much used in many sections of the North has thick walls filled with insulating material, such as sawdust or shavings. The construction is of frame and the walls are usually 10 to 12 inches thick. Both the inside and the outside walls are sheathed with matched lumber so as to make them airtight. The rafters are celled on the under side with the same material and the space between the rafters filled with dry insulating material. The use of building paper in the roof and walls of the storage house is of great assistance in insulating it.

A type of storage cellar much used in Northern sections of the country is built partly under ground. The walls are of masonry and extend to a point just above the surface of the ground. On these walls plates are set and a roof of frame construction erected. The roof structure is celled on the under side of the rafters and some suitable insulating material, such as dry sawdust or shavings, packed in the space between the rafters, and then the sheathing, paper, and roofing material are applied. This type of structure is preferable in many respects to the above-ground type, as it is easier to maintain the temperature at the proper point and its insulation is a comparatively easy matter.

Protection from freezing may be secured with a simpler type of structure by making it entirely underground. In order to avoid steps down to the level of the floor, with the consequent extra labor in storing and removing the vegetables, a sidehill location is desirable.

The excavation in the hill should be of the approximate size of the cellar, using the dirt for covering the roof and for banking the sides of the structure. A frame is erected by setting two rows of posts of uniform height in the bottom of the pit near the dirt walls and a third line of posts about 5 feet higher, through the center of the pit. These posts serve as supports for the planks or puncheons forming the room of the structure, as with the above-ground type of storage cellar already described. The door is placed at one end and a ventilator put in the roof. The whole structure with the exception of the portion occupied by the door is covered with dirt and soil. The thickness of the covering must be determined by the location; the colder the climate the thicker the covering. The dirt covering may be supplemented in winter by a layer of manure, straw, corn fodder, etc. Outdoor storage cellars usually are left with dirt floors, as a certain degree of moisture is desirable. These cellars may be made of concrete, brick, hollow tile, stone, or other material.

Outdoor Storage Cellar Built of Concrete.

The type of outdoor storage cellar described above, while low in first cost, is short lived, as the conditions in the cellar are favorable to the decay of wood. The concrete storage cellar, although rather high in first cost, as compared with wood, is a permanent structure. Concrete possesses several advantages over brick, stone, or other decay-resisting materials. In the construction of a small structure suitable for the home it is possible to make the roof self-supporting. And to employ unskilled labor, thus lessening the cost. It is a simple matter to waterproof concrete, a feature highly desirable in a storage cellar.

For detailed information in reference to the mixing and handling of concrete, the reader is referred to Farmers' Bulletin 491, entitled "The Use of Concrete on the Farm."

The site for the concrete storage cellar should be selected with the same considerations in mind as for the wood-frame cellar, namely, a well-drained, convenient location, preferably a sidehill, into which it may be built. The excavation should be just large enough for the dirt walls to serve as the outside form for the concrete. For that portion of the wall which is above the surface of the ground a board form must be used. The inside form is usually made of board held in place by scantling spaced about 18 inches apart. Temporary supports should be placed across the top to carry the form, so that it will be of the size and shape desired. The side walls and roof should be so constructed that there will be no joints to weaken the structure. The form for the ceiling may be slightly arched by setting a temporary line of posts through the middle of the excavation. A plate placed on these posts a few inches higher than the height of the side walls will allow the form boards to be laid crosswise of the cellar, springing the ends down and securing them to the forms for the inside of the walls.

The whole structure with the exception of the portion occupied by the door, is covered with earth to prevent freezing, the thickness of the earth covering depending upon the geographical location. In the colder sections of the country 2 or 3 feet is not too much, and additional protection may be given by using a supplementary covering of straw, fodder, or manure. In severe cold weather both the top and bottom air ducts must be closed. It is well to cover the outside ends of the air inlets by woven wire in order to prevent small animals from entering the storage cellar.

President of Portugal Visits Spain; Welcomed As Neighbor By Alphonso

Seldom, if ever, have the rulers of Spain and Portugal come together on neighborly visits. It was only recently that matters of grave importance caused Dr. Bernardino Machado, president of Portugal, to visit the King Alphonso of Spain. U. S. Will Take Over Ohio River Shipping.

Pittsburg, Nov. 21.—Ohio River shipping will be commandeered by the Government to relieve the serious freight tieup and aid in the transportation of munitions. It will also be utilized to carry fuel to manufacturers who have big war contracts and who have been hit hard by the fuel famine due to the freight congestion.

A preliminary investigation by the War Department, instituted to determine the extent to which river transportation facilities here may be used to relieve the coal shortage, which threatens to hamper seriously the war preparations of the Government by forcing the suspension of many plants in the Monongahela, Ohio and Allegheny valleys, has developed information of sufficient significance to warrant drastic action to compel the use of thousands of tons of shipping now lying idle in this vicinity.

This became known to-day following the departure from Pittsburg of Major John Stewart of the Engineers Corps of the War Department, who came here Monday to take charge of the investigation. He will return here later this week with authority to use whatever measures may be necessary to relieve the situation. No announcement has been made officially as to the Government's action, but information from authoritative sources is to the effect that water facilities of this district will be put into use within a few weeks.

American Packers Now in Great Government 'Trust'

At no time in the commercial history of the United States has there been such a "trust" as that which is now being fostered by the government under the direct supervision of Joseph P. Cotton, a lawyer. The "Trust" is readily admitted to be the greatest ever known, and it includes all of the packers of the country. The plants where foodstuffs are put up are all included, and, indeed, all are licensed. Mr. Cotton, who has just assumed direction of the "monopoly," says that the packers of foods have all assured him of full co-operation on a basis that admits of no excess profits which the public must pay.

Clipping Machine A Boon To Red Cross Workers.

Women in Red Cross groups who have blistered their hands making clippings from cloths with which to fill fracture pillows for our army hospital will welcome a new machine, described and pictured in the December Popular Mechanics Magazine, that clips about eight times as fast as a person can with a pair of shears. It is provided with four knives, mounted like the spoke of a wheel, which are turned on an axis by means of a handle. As they revolve they pass a stationary blade across which torn strips of the proper width are cut by means of two rollers.

When the Kaiser Wins.

When cherries grow on pumpkin vines,

And pumpkins grow on trees;
When an elephant's hide is as soft as silk,
And a honey-bee gives buttermilk;
When a man can soothe a baby's pain,
And invites his mother-in-law to call again—
And yet not be insane.
When a mouse "tanks up" on booze,
And the meanness through his hide begins to ooze,
He will let out a roar,
And kick down the barn door—
When the Kaiser wins this war.
